Northfield High School
Metropolitan School District
Wabash, Indiana

Volume IV
1965-66

Every school has homework, convocations, sometimes-quiet halls, football games, and so does Northfield. But, somehow they're a little different. There is something about all these that is hard to capture. It can't be transported to any other place because of its uniqueness. The people here are what make it so with their superballs, "Would you believe?", and sweatshirts. This feeling can't be destroyed for it is formed from many things.

. . . the arrival of buses in the morning

. . . the last minute study of those chemistry notes

. . . the after school frenzy for the nearest exit

Northfield has a full Business Curriculum. Courses offered are: General Business, Typing I and II, Bookkeeping I and II, Shorthand I and II, Business Law, Business Mathematics, and Secretarial Practice. Business machines is introduced in one semester of Secretarial Practice. Several field trips, included tours of General Tire and Wabash Magnetics.

Commerce

Rita Rehak and Lynette McIlree are at work typing. The enrollment in Typing I this year was about 90.

Joanie is using the dictaphone for transcription. This is one of the last courses in Business Education.

Shari King, runner-up in the Indiana State Art Federation contest, displays her talents.

Music & Art

The fine arts are offered in the high school as well as junior high. Mrs. Hamilton is in charge of all art. Mr. Strodel directs junior high and swing band. Mr. Trump, head of the music department, directs the Concert band and Marching band. Mrs. Huntington directs the junior high and high school chorus.

An attentive high school band listens to Mr. Trump's instructions for the Spring Concert.

English

For each year of English two credits are received. English is required in the ninth, tenth, and eleventh grades. English is also required in the seventh and eighth grades. One semester is usually concerned with English and the other semester deals with literature. Senior English is an elective; offered to students who will probably go to college. Students not only learn grammar but also make book reports, learn how to use references. and learn to appreciate works of literature.

Sorry, Miss Meyer, but this is a run on sentence.

Foreign Language

This year Northfield offered three foreign languages. Spanish was taught by Mrs. Cramer, French was taught by Mrs. Deck, and Latin was taught by Mrs. Jinks. Each of the classes formed or continued the Language Clubs. The Latin Club gave Mrs. Jinks a going-away party near the end of school.

Mrs. Deck, French teacher, has control of every booth in the language laboratory while at the monitor's station.

Mr. Riley makes himself comfortable for a deep discussion in Indiana history class.

Social Studies

Social Studies begin early with freshmen orientation which studies careers, curriculums, and social behavior. Required United States History, American Government, and economics are supplemented with sociology and psychology as electives. Mr. Riley, Mr. Kaltenmark, Mr. Price, and Mr. Scheerer are teachers of these subjects.

The counseling area is very well equipped with pamphlets that will answer many questions. Student secretaries are usually in the office to set up appointments with a counselor. Mrs. Penrod and Mr. Fansler discuss problems and help students plan their schedules for the coming year.

Physical Education is required in grades seven, eight, nine, and ten. In the past year, advanced physical education has been offered. Miss Mussleman and Mr. Smucker, our teachers, also teach health to the tenth grade. This class deals with the growth, function, and care of the body.

Miss Mussleman and Mr. Smucker show their P.E. class how to folk dance.

Math

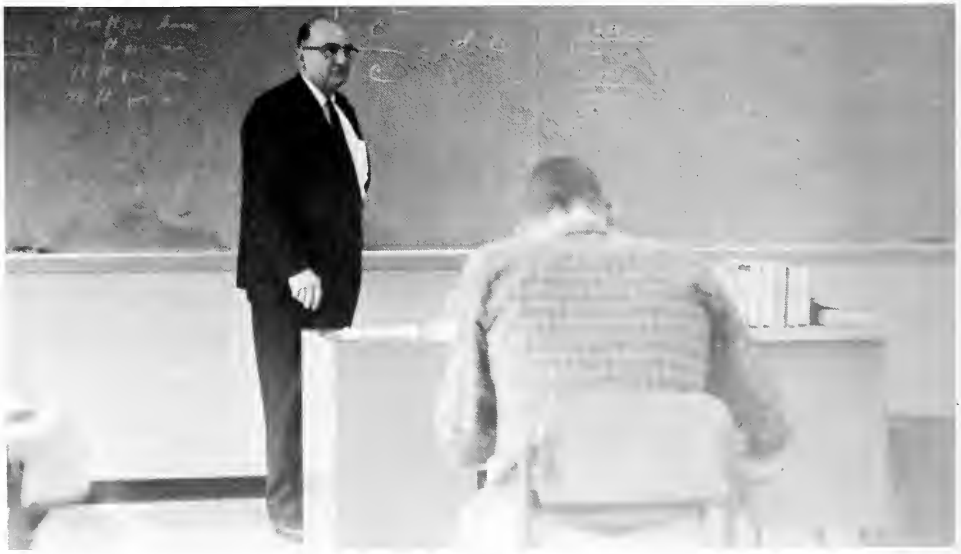
Mr. Bechtold

Mr. Christie

Mr. Reahard

The Mathematics department includes the basic general math, Algebra I and II, and plane geometry as well as one semester each of trigonometry and college math. These two subjects are designed to give seniors, in the fourth year of math, a bridge for the gap between high school and college mathematics. Mr. Bechtold, Mr. Christie, and Mr. Reahard encourage fundamental study as well as a deeper study of the principles.

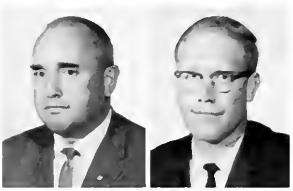
Teachers meet after school to discuss student problems.



Mr. Bechtold stops to ask, "Any questions before going on to the next problem?"

Science

Becky Pobst works extra hours to complete her project for the science fair.



Mr. Eiler Mr. Graham

Sciences included in the Northfield curriculum this year are: algebra, geometry, trigonometry, general mathematics, biology, physiology, chemistry, physics, and general science. The Math and Science Club sponsored a Science Fair this spring. The club also showed films and sold concessions at ballgames.

Cheryl Siferd and Lois Quivey find that measuring the intestines of a pig during dissection is not one of Mr. Eiler's most enjoyable physiology assignments.

Industrial Arts

Mr. Fisher

Mr. Shaw

Mr. Smelser

The Industrial Arts Department for this year has been attempting to capitalize on the basic principles of woods, metals, and electricity through personal projects of various sorts.

The Industrial Arts Department sponsored the Northfield Chapter of the American Industrial Arts Association. The courses were used many times during the work meetings throughout the entire year.

Mr. Smelser, head of the department has instructed numerous boys in the proper uses of the shop machines and welding equipment. Many students have undoubtedly taken unsafe patterns of work, however; the problem of safety is stressed to the utmost by Mr. Shaw and Mr. Fisher as well as Mr. Smelser.

A slight distraction during drafting class disturbs intent minds and then everyone goes back to work.

Agriculture

Mr. Cain

Mr. Hendrix

The agriculture department includes classes of crop production, farm machinery, plant science, animal science, and soil science. This department is not necessarily planned for those boys who are not attending college as it includes several college-bound students. A co-curricular organization, the Future Farmers of America, is sponsored by this department through the advisors, Mr. Cain and Mr. Hendrix.

Well, gang, if the teachers can't get it started, we might as well give up.

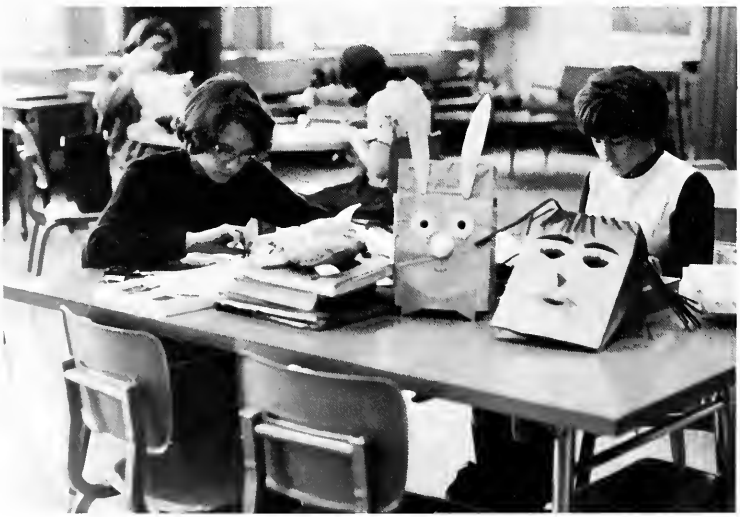
Jody Baker, Carl Fields, and Steve Pressler hurry to get a project finished before the end of class.

Home Economics

Mrs. Petty Mrs. Cooper

The Northfield curriculum offers three years of Home Ec. with a fourth year only for Seniors who have had no previous training. The year is divided into two sections. One semester is devoted to foods while the other semester is devoted to sewing. This year the Home Ec. girls displayed their creations on May 11, at the annual Style Show.

Mrs. Petty gives a helping hand to Nora Tracy in Senior Home Ec.



Kay Grandstaff and Pat Garrison are hard at work making their own babysitting kits.

Everything from soc-hops to dramatic productions combine to form the frivolities on week-ends. Everyone relaxes and suddenly Monday morning doesn't look so bad, especially when one's tired from

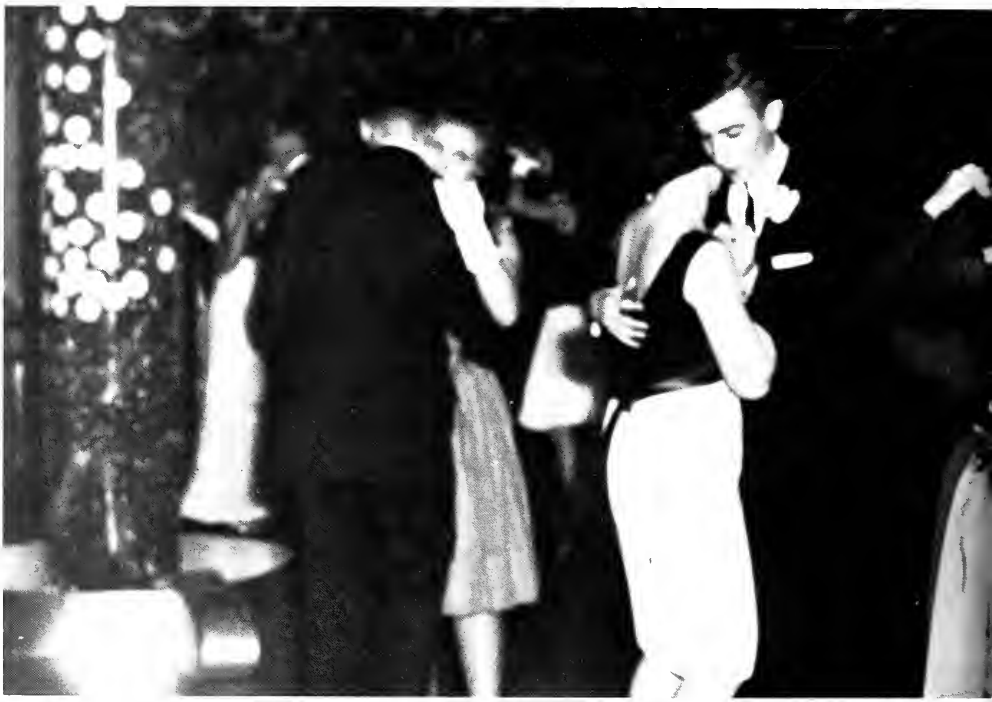
The Christmas Dance Was Enjoyed by Everyone



Save some for the girls, Fellas!!

in Attendance

Swishing satin, budding roses, and romantic music combined for an enjoyable evening.

Many students look back to the night of December 11, 1965, with fond memories. Approximately sixty couples enjoyed the Christmas Dance entitled, "Wonderland by Night." Through the dim lights, a false ceiling of red and silver could be seen. Since the weather wouldn't co-operate, the seniors used artificial snow to give the effect of snow drifting outside the windows. In the center of the floor, a huge candle lit the flame of an enjoyable evening. The Manchester College stage band provided the music for this enchanting evening.

The faculty also enjoyed the atmosphere of the Christmas spirit.

Judy Meyer and Ron Smith join the festivities.

Norsemen Vary From Hillbilly Informal to

Janie Wilson and Mike Cole dance to fit their costumes while Vicki Driscoll watches in laughing amazement.

Jerry West, why don't you let Connie Roth have your pipe? It would go perfectly with the hat.

The Lil' Abner and Daisy Mae competition was won by overall-wearing Mike Baker and corncob-pipe-smoking Liz Derck, seniors. Other candidates were Kraig Ahlfeld and Becky Howard, freshmen; Tom DeArmond and Kathy Nees, sophomores; Gary Haupert and Pam Garrison, juniors.

Patches, mixed socks, old hats, and garters were prominent as displayed by Marcia Friermood and Scottie Chamberlain.

Carol Friermood and Pam Garrison join a basketball squad in the gym for extra recreation.

Strictly Formal

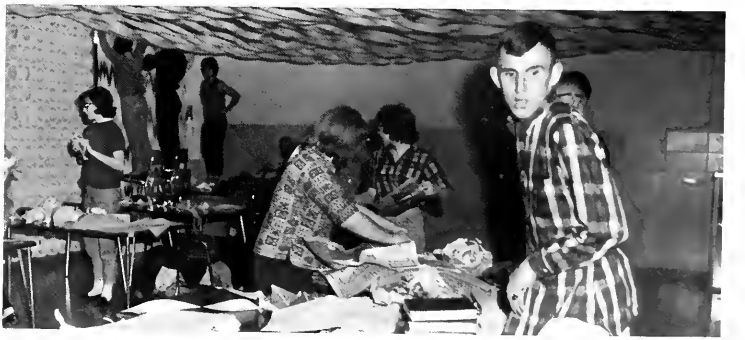
Junior John Closser goes to all lengths—would you believe, heights—to make a successful dance.

Diane Gaff, Martin Smalley, Danny Eller, Jane McKinley, and Lilian Maduro sit this one out.

Seniors Margaret Walker and Dennis Hall enjoy the last dance of the evening.

On the evening of March 11, the Norsemen began to arrive in anything wild ranging from overalls to ragged cut-offs. The student council sponsored the girl-ask-boy event and hired the "Fabulous Intruders" to provide the music.

Only two weeks later on March 25, these same students met for the junior class-sponsored "Spring Fling" in formals and suits. They danced under pastel-colored streamers near the center-hanging illusive butterfly to the melodies of the "Noteables."



Randy Taylor wonders why he can't find the tape in this junior-made mess.

Barb Gorsuch, Jane Ann Kisner, Joyce Bowman, Sandy Forbes, and Susan McVicker decide that paper maché is sticky and ugly—oh so ugly!

As the night of the prom approached, plans were made and materials ordered. Since the preparation is half the fun; several days before May 14, crews of Juniors joined the chairmen, Joyce Lauer, Becky Pobst, Jim Stowe, and Becky Wilson and made mass production of the decorations. The work was hard and the pay low, but the fun and satisfaction on the big night made up for it all.

Angels in disguise? Well, Maybe not but Becky Pobst and Marilyn Faust are pretty good at arranging angel's hair.

The Juniors try out their decorations in the dark and find them very enchanting.

Junior-Senior Prom

"O.K. you guys down there, twist this right and hand me the stapler," orders John Swan ten feet up.

Jennifer Barker and Roger Meyer see crepe paper with their eyes closed as they staple and cut and staple the night before the prom.

Eating hamburgers and drinking root beer on the run becomes a natural habit for Carl Milam and Brian Mendenhall.

Juniors Seniors and Guests Dance

Tables were suddenly pushed together as Joyce Lauer, Nora Tracy, and Marge Maurer with their escorts Larry Sheetz, Ken Dyson, and Steve Denny found the old saying, "The more, the merrier" is certainly true.

Susan McVicker and Gary Kusiak keep the punch coming for thirsty attenders.

As the tempo changed and some girls discarded shoes, Sandy Weeks and Tim Foster join the numerous fast dancers.

Soft music, the false ceiling, and the centered chandelier led the couples to slow, romantic dancing.

As the evening becomes shorter, the seniors become a little sad that this, their senior prom, will soon end.

Until Midnight

The Juniors hosted the Seniors for an evening of formal enjoyment on May 14. During the banquet in the school cafeteria John Krom, president of the Junior class, welcomed the guest Seniors. Senior class president, Mike Baker, accepted for the honored guests. Jim Snapp, magician, presented a short program after a Senior candle lighting service.

During the prom from eight to twelve, the Juniors, Seniors, Faculty, and guests danced to the melodies of the "Humbugs". As the evening ended many dreams were completed.

The band played through the night surrounded by picket fence and crepe paper.

The Friday night cast, which included Joanie Yentes, Diane Bever, Barb Lewis, Mike Cole, Marcia Friermood, Jon Fisher, Cheryl Groendyke, Jane Krom, Larry Thrush, Ray Meyer, Nora Tracy, and Ken Dyson take a last curtain call.

One of the many comical scenes of the play is the one in which Larry Thrush as Bob Dolsen enters, much to the surprise of the other characters, without his trousers.

The Friday night cast, which included Joanie Yentes, Diane Bever, Barb Lewis, Mike Cole, Marcia Friermood, Jon Fisher, Cheryl Groendyer, Jane Krom, Larry Thrush, Ray Meyer, Nora Tracy, and Ken Dyson, take a last curtain call.

"We Shook The Family Tree", a three act family comedy by Christopher Sergel, was taken from the book by Hildegarde Dolson. The Northfield High School Drama Club presented this play on April 29 and 30. This story centered around Hildegarde's life with her family. During this particular segment she is involved in the problems of a teen-age girl who wants to go to the prom.

Several parts were double cast in this play to give more students an opportunity to experience acting and staging. The Drama Club also supplied the stage manager, Randy Jeffrey; lighting directors, John Swan and Scottie Chamberlain; prompters, Kris Keffaber and Jane McKinley; publicity manager, Maribess Lefforge; and make-up directors, Marge Maurer and Rita Pankop.

Several businesses cooperated to make the play successful. Miller Furniture Co. supplied all of the furniture and Smith-Alsop Co. donated the wallpaper.

Mrs. Cramer, Drama Club sponsor, was the director of the play and received a silver tray from the cast for her contributions.

Mr. Shermer, Ken Dyson, and Mr. Dolson, Jon Fisher, are startled by Hildegarde's beauty preparation, a mud pack.

The play ends in a tumult as the entire cast fights over Mr. Shermer while Freddie and Hildegarde leave for the prom.

Hildegarde, Marcia Friermood, pleads with her mother, Cheryl Groendyke, not to make her go to the prom with Freddie.

Only a few more steps and Don Fleck, who has just received his diploma, will no longer be a senior.

The speaker, Dr. James Armstrong from the Broadway Methodist Church, Indianapolis, agrees with the backdrop that "To a Valiant Heart Nothing is Impossible."

Busy Years of Class of 66 End With

Scottie Chamberlain and Sharon Mills seem happy enough as they leave the exercises, each with a mint green carnation.

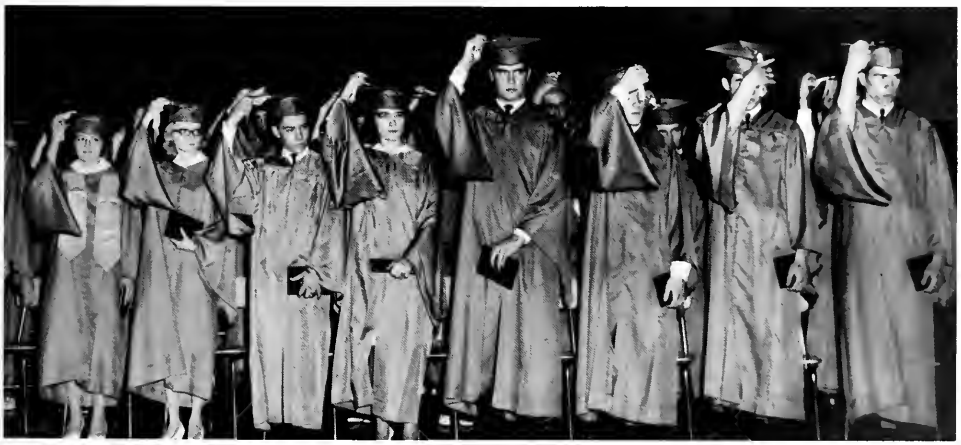
Marge Maurer and Jim Baldwin seem a little perplexed as to what comes next.

Junior class president, John Krom, and secretary, Jennifer Willcox, lead the procession of seniors following the tradition started four years ago.

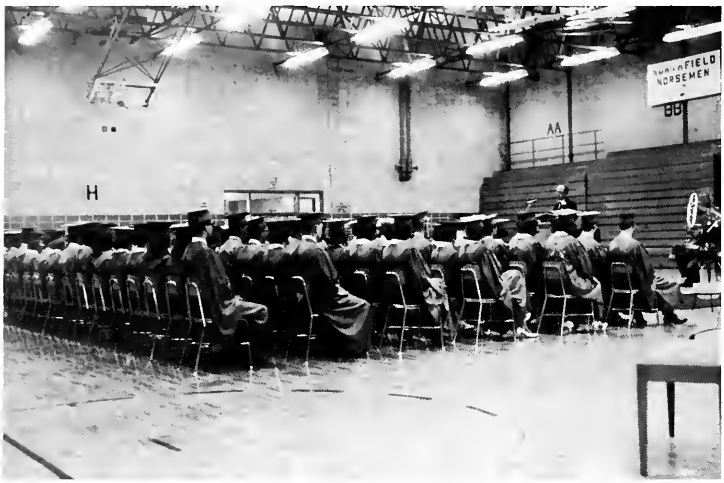
On May 23, 1966 at 8:00 P.M., the ninety-six members of the class of '66 began their processional. After the invocation by Reverend James Swan and the address by Dr. James Armstrong, Mr. Dawes presented and Mr. Elbert Carr, president of the school board, accepted the class. The diplomas were presented and at 9:22 P.M. the class of '66 became graduates of Northfield High School.

Diplomas and Tassels at Commencement

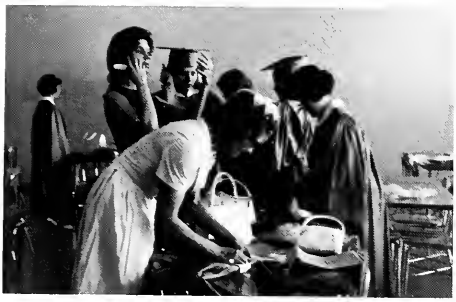


With the turning of tassels and the words "I now pronounce you graduates of Northfield High School," the class of '66 leaves the halls of Northfield.

Baccalaureate Service Is Impressive



Seniors listen attentively to the address, "For Such A Time As This," by Reverend Paul Tonovitz.



Preparations include collar-pinning, hair-combing, and gown-straightening for Kathy Bowen and her mother.

The Baccalaureate services, held in the gym on May 22, 1966, started with the processional by Mrs. Mast at 2:30. The high school chorus, directed by Mrs. Huntington, sang "I Know Not What The Future Hath" and "Make America Proud Of You". After the scriptures by Reverend Paul Horine and the address by Reverend Paul Tonovitz, Bibles were presented to each senior on behalf of D. E. Speicher.

Jim Baldwin receives his Bible presented by Reverend Dressler on behalf of Mr. D. E. Speicher.

Mr. Fansler scurries to be sure that all of his wards are properly gowned and tasseled.

Mrs. O'Neal ..... Elizabeth Derck

The high school chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Huntington and Mrs. Phil Cramer presented the musical, "Ask the Professor", on October 12, 1965.

This operetta by Estelle Clark and Adele Lee centers around a poor girl who wishes to go to college. Accompanied by Becky Eiler and Barb Gorsuch the chorus sang their way through two acts.

Elizabeth Derck adds a final touch to Sandy Forbes' make-up before going on stage.

Sally Hipskind, Peggy Pretorius, Becky Walker, and Barb Gaff crown the May queen, Melissa Jeffrey.

Home Ec. Department Stages Style Show

The Home Economics Department presented "Pretty As a Picture" on May 11, 1966. About 100 girls participated. Kristine Keffaber, Homemaker of Tomorrow, narrated and Barbara Gorsuch and Becky Wilson were pianists for the style show. The eighth grade girls made jumpers and blouses, the rest of the girls were free to make anything within their ability. The girls presented Mrs. Petty and Mrs. Cooper with long stemmed carnations. All in all we think everyone looked "pretty as a picture."

As Becky Wilson and Barb Gorsuch, pianists, look on, Sharon Mills models her mint-green and white graduation dress.

Sharon Schnepp in her lavender jumper and printed blouse stands "pretty as a picture" on stage.

Kristine Keffaber, 1966 Homemaker of Tomorrow, narrates the home economics style show.

Bruce Tonovitz looks as if he would rather be watching the varsity basketball game than running the coat check.

Honor Society Inducts 21 New Members

The Northfield Chapter of the National Honor Society promotes scholarship, character, leadership, and service in the students of the school. Those twenty-one members inducted exhibited these characteristics. This year Herbert Baker and Lois Quivey, sophomores, and Larry Biehl and Peggy Cordes, freshmen, received awards from the society to promote these qualities in underclassmen.

The Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y clubs, chartered by the state Y.M.C.A., are service organizations serving the school, community, and the world in various capacities. The purpose of these clubs, to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community good standards of Christian living, is carried out by the joint provision of the annual Easter convocation. During the year these clubs joined with the Wabash County Mental Health Association in providing entertainment for patients at Logansport Mental Hospital.

The Hi-Y enjoyed a swimming party early in May as one of their regular evening meetings. The Tri-Hi-Y members, for the first time, received pins as awards. These were financed through the club treasury.

The cast from "No Room In The Hotel," Kris Keffaber, Sharon Mills, Stan Bozarth, Nora Tracy, Dennis Hall, Marcia Friermood, Maribess Lefforge, Jon Fisher, and Ray Meyer, take a final bow.

Maribess Lefforge gives a monologue for a high school convocation.

The high school drama club is organized to promote student interest in drama and to create individuality in character. The sponsor for the group is Mrs. Cramer. The activities for the year include a public relations play at Christmas, a speech and monologue convocation, and the biggest single event —the spring play, "We Shook The Family Tree." The organizers for all of these activities are Ray Meyer, President; Sharon Mills, Vice-President; Marcia Friermood, Secretary; and Maribess Lefforge, Treasurer.

David Keppel and David Day try to remove Tom Bever from the scene in the spring play.

The junior high Drama Club was newly formed this year under the direction of Miss Griffin. The main purpose of the organization was to learn about acting, staging, and producing dramatic works. They presented both a Christmas and spring play at junior high convocations.

Since the club was so large two sets of officers were elected. Seventh grade officers are Gloria Friermood, President; Randy Cleaveland, Vice-President; LuAnn Yentes, Secretary; and Jamie King, Treasurer. Eighth grade officers are Bev McVicker, President; Pat Latcham, Vice-President; Delinda Dyon, Secretary; Carol Dale, Treasurer.

Math and Science Club Builds Laser

First Row: Mr. Graham, Mr. Eiler, Terry Tonovitz, John Ferrier, Mark Barker, Martin Smalley, George Gordon, Dave Wright, Richard Renz, John Swan. Second Row: Mike Swank, Stan Bozarth, Dave Crockett, Jon Fisher, Bill Bean, Ken Dale, Scottie Chamberlain, Randy Jeffrey, Kathy Leisure, Diane Rodocker, Barb Gaff, Ruth Ann Treska. Third Row: Lemoine Laurer, Brad Flohr, J. P. Howell, Alan Fishback, John Closser, Rick Slonicker, Pam Garrison, Margaret Fearnow, Sandie Forbes, Marilyn Brown. Fourth Row: Jim Stowe, John Drom, Dennis Eller, Niles Cline, Doug Ahfeld, Joyce Johnson, Suzanne Procter, Jennie Willcox, Peggy Pretorius, Cathy Poole. Fifth Row: Gary Dawson, Neil Cline, Dave Stephenson, Herbert Baker, Larry Dixon, Bob Kendall.

Mr. Eiler, Mr. Graham, and Mr. Reahard head a growing Math and Science Club. This year forty-nine students were active members.

The main project of the year was the construction of a laser. In order to finance the project, the club sponsored the movie, Under the Yum Yum Tree. Although a few technical difficulties plague the laser, the club hopes to put it in operating condition this summer and present it to the school this fall.

On March 19 the Math and Science Club sponsored the Northfield High School Science Fair. The winners in their respective divisions are: George Gordon, biology; Dave Crockett, physics; Bob Dubois, chemical products; Herbert Baker, chemical demonstrations; Tom Worthington, general science; Mark Elrod, junior. In the evening approximately three hundred patrons viewed the seventy-seven exhibits. George Gordon's exhibit on anti-hemiphilic globulin and Herb Baker's fuel cell both won thirds at the Regional Science Fair at Manchester College. A panel of professors from Huntington College acted as judges for our local Fair.

Several girls voiced a desire to learn more about the nursing career. Under the leadership of Mrs. Martin, the school nurse, great strides were made to initiate the Future Nurses Club. A constitution was written and accepted by the National affiliation. The girls were very busy helping to conduct the tuberculin tests and eye tests. In February they held a Valentine cake raffle. Early in the spring, the girls received their pins, a small octagon with a flaming lamp on it. The year guard is connected to the pin by a chain.

The officers of the club are: First Row: Becky Eiler, Cheryl Groendyke. Second Row: Peggy Pertoruis, Marcia Friermood, Joyce Lauer, and Sandy Forbes.

Future nurse, Connie Roth, helps with eye tests.

The officers for FTA this year were Diane Bever, Jane Krom, Lee Myers, and Jane McKinley.

This club was organized to give the student a better understanding of the qualifications required for a teaching career. Through the Exploratory Teaching Program the members become acquainted with the activities of a teacher in a school room. This helps them to gain an insight in the daily life of a teacher. This experience along with their knowledge of the teaching profession will help the members to decide if they are qualified to become a teacher.

This club for the first time at Northfield awarded the Golden Hammer Award of Merit. This award is given to a student having at least a B– grade average in industrial arts courses and at least a C– average grade in all other classes. He must also show qualities of leadership and can either be a member of the club or not. This year the award was earned by Dave Smith.

The club also sponsored a sock-hop and had concessions at one of the home basketball games. Other club projects included tours of the Diehl plant and Ford Meter Box. The sponsors are Mr. Jerry Smelser and Mr. James Fisher.

Officers of the club include Jim Baldwin, Tom Worthington, Skip Ponder, Ronnie Coburn, Steve Leach and Brian Mendenhall.

A.F.S. Exchange Student, Benefits Club

Lilian receives a transistor radio as a going away present from the student body. President, Ken Dyson presents the gift.

Dear friends: I am sad to leave this wonderful country, especially the state of Indiana.

It was too bad that the senior class did not give me a bigger suitcase in order to put Northfield High School in it and take all of you to my country, but my heart is big enough to keep all the memories I have of you.

I am not going to enumerate all the good times I had here because it is a long history but I want to tell you that I enjoyed every minute, every second at Northfield.

Finally, let me say how thankful I am to all students, teachers and people who took part in some way for giving me such a wonderful year.

God bless you!

Lilian

LILIAN MADURO GARCIA

Lily practices America's dancing techniques at the Sadie Hawkin's soc-hop.

As the school year ends, Lily receives her diploma. Northfield bids her good-by and wishes her good luck with the hope that our country and hers can ever be friends. We wish that our friend from Venezuela could stay just a little longer.

Senior Dave Wright, who leads the boys' cheer block, heads the block in a jubilant cheer after the winning of the varsity basketball holiday tourney.

These two pep clubs, sponsored by Mrs. Mast and Mr. Rex Price, are in charge of all skits and cheers. They are the core of the cheering section, especially during basketball season. Members are required to attend all home games as well as the Southwood game and the tourneys.

The girls' section, headed by Kris Keffaber, President; Sally Hipskind, Vice-President; Maribess Lefforge, Secretary; and Sandi Forbes, Treasurer, decided to purchase navy blue vests as their new costumes. The seniors received roses from the cheerblock during the last home game.

The boys' section got off to a good start this year and really backed the teams. Dave Smith, President; Dave Wright, and DeWayne Siders, head cheerleaders, are the official heads of this club.

Girls' and boys' voices proudly join in the singing of the Northfield school song during the pep rally prior to the sectional basketball tourney.

The "N" Club, a non-profit organization designed to promote good sportsmanship each year presents one convocation to the student body.

Each Spring the club members become chefs at the annual Steak Fry. Every boy who has earned a varsity letter in any sport, automatically becomes a member of the Northfield "N" Club sponsored by Mr. George Price, Mr. Reahard, and the coaches.

Chef for the day, Carl Milam, turns the steaks at the cook-out.

G.A.A. Wins Second in Volleyball Tourney

Miss Musselman, sponsor, intently studies the activity of a G.A.A. volleyball game.

Regina Forbes calmly waits to return the ball over the volleyball net.

This year's Girls' Athletic Association was entered in a volleyball tournament in which they came in second out of twelve schools. They were also host for a volleyball game with North Miami which they lost. The club was led by sponsor Miss Musselman, and president Carol Friermood. Further objectives of the club will be carried out during the next school year.

Library Club Has Important Role in School

First Row: Diane Rodocker, Ann Story, Margaret Welker, Judy Kirby, Gloria England. Second Row: Sandy Slater, Sharon Eckerly, Kathy Leisure, Sue Finnegan. Third Row: Beth Hartong, Debbie Bozarth, Kris Slaybaugh, and Mrs. Bozarth, sponsor.

Mrs. Bozarth, Head Librarian, begins to wonder where all those student librarians are now; but don't worry. They will soon be here.

This year the library club consists of twelve girls and two sponsors, Mrs. Bozarth, and Sue Finnegan. Not pictured is President Nancy Baker who has been a student librarian for four years.

These girls not only check books in and out during their study halls, but they are also responsible for a clean, neat and convenient library for the student body. A Student librarian is expected to know the proper system for filing and cataloging.

This year Nancy Baker was sent to Indiana University to learn more about library services so that our library might be improved. Our library has steadily gotten better partly because of the student librarians who play an important part on the every day school life.

Star Prints News Monthly

The North Star staff under the direction of Mr. George Price publishes the monthly school paper, the North Star. The nineteen members are responsible for reporting the news, typing the stencils, and getting them to the printer on time. Margaret Walker and Dave Crockett are co-editors. Diane Bever is news editor. Lee Myers is sports editor, Linda Long is the art editor, and Gary Dawson is news photographer. Jane McKinley, Business manager, is responsible for keeping the budget, and Bill Bean is her assistant. Elaine Ford and Sheri Bidwell serve as reporters along with Peggy Pretorius and Deanne Dyson. Tom DeArmond and Rich Monce assist Lee Myers with the sports page. Our columns are written by Bob Kendall and Elizabeth Wolf. Susan McVicker, Karen Cunningham, Cindy Unger, Judy Kirby and Liz Wolf do the little publicized, but much needed, job of typing stencils.

Ann Story and Lana Schrader sell Mildred Wilcox a copy of the North Star in the cafeteria at noon.

Staff Finally Completes 66 Shield

This year's twenty-seven member staff, headed by editor, Kris Keffaber and advisor, Mr. David Gray, completes a 128 page yearbook, the 1966 Shield.

Several experimental ideas such as double-column pages, introductory section, and plain end sheets for autograph purposes have been tried.

The underclassmen on the staff, especially the 1967 Shield editor, Jeanie Keaffaber, look forward to the future year.

A glance in the staff room finds a sleepy editor trying to find the keys to complete a page for deadline.

Layouts and copy writing sometimes takes extra hours of work in the evening for the staff.

High School Band Enjoys All Types of Music

Mr. Trump drills the band in preparation for contest.

The Northfield High School band, under the direction of Mr. Ross Trump, presented many enjoyable programs. This last summer they practiced marching regularly to prepare for performances in the fall football season. The band was one of four which participated in the County Music Festival. During the spring of the year, the band attended contest and received an excellent.

Alumni return to enjoy the band.

Drum Major, twirlers, and Norsettes heralded the approaching of the high school band during each home football game. The Norsettes unit was started last year entirely as an experiment. Due to the reaction it was continued and slightly enlarged, and newly formed.

The twirlers also purchased new uniforms and preceded the marching band.

Drum major, Gary Dawson, served his first year and as a result was awarded a scholarship to Smith-Walbridge summer camp. All candidates for these positions tried out and were chosen according to merit.

Seniors Receive Sweaters at Christmas

Jane McKinley receives the John Philip Sousa Award from Mr. Trump. She was voted as most deserving by her fellow band members and approved by the director on the basis of citizenship as well as talent.

Each year seniors are awarded sweaters by the Band Booster Organization, the music parents. This year several happy seniors received their award at the Christmas concert. To earn a sweater a student must participate in one of the music organizations three of their four high school years, one of which is the senior year. The seniors really enjoy the privilege of wearing these.

Cheryl Groendyke and Diane Bever agree that they've worked very hard for their sweaters. No one is going to get them now.

Pam Garrison and Gary Haupert are winners of scholarships to summer band camps. Other winners are Royce Thrush, Gary Dawson, Linda Murray, and Carol Fansler.

Coaches: Mr. Riley, Mr. Smucker, and Mr. Kaltenmark.

Mr. Smucker was head coach of our thirty-one man football squad. He was assisted by Mr. Riley and Mr. Kaltenmark. This season was without a doubt our best so far. We ended up with a record of three wins, five losses, and one tie. We finished the season on a winning note, defeating Southwood 33-0. The highlight of the game was Mike Baker's 70-yard touchdown run. Mr. Smucker said that during the Southwood game he could not see any mistakes in the way the game was being played. He also remarked, "Next year we are going to be a real tough team." This year two new football awards were created. They are: Most Valuable Football Player, and Best Offensive Rusher. Mike Baker was the recipient of both awards.

Victorious Varsity

Coach Shaw's varsity finished with a winning season, 12 wins-11 losses. Two highlights of the season were winning the 4-Way tourney and being the runners-up in the sectional. During the season we defeated Southwood and Wabash twice. In the 4-Way tourney both of these teams fell to our victorious varsity. Wabash was defeated by the Norse again in the sectional. Our fighting five defeated Southwood in an exciting seasonal game, coming out on top in the final seconds of the game.

Cheerleaders Boost Spirit at N.H.S.

Varsity cheerleaders: Susan McVicker, Janie Wilson, Marcia Friermood, Kathy Miller, Joanie Yentes.

Marcia Friermood enjoys the privilege of cutting nets after the Holiday victory.

Senior Marcia Friermood ends her high school cheerleading career this year as the captain of the varsity squad. She also served in this position as a junior. During her sophomore year she was a junior varsity cheerleader.

Joanie Yentes has served four years as a cheerleader at Northfield. She started as a freshman, continued her sophomore year as a junior varsity cheerleader, and now as a senior has completed her second year on the varsity squad.

The junior varsity cheerleaders celebrate after winning of the 4-way "B" team tourney.

Senior Jane Wilson has completed her last year as a Northfield High School cheerleader. For four years—first as a freshman cheerleader, then as a junior varsity during her sophomore year, and finally as a varsity cheerleader her junior and senior years—Janie has cheered teams to victory.

During her junior and senior years Kathy Miller has served on the varsity squad. She was also a junior varsity cheerleader during her sophomore year.

Susan McVicker completed her second year in the realm of splits and cartwheels as the only junior serving on the varsity squad. During her sophomore year she was a junior varsity cheerleader.

The Norse fight for that ever-important ball.

Ninth grade cheerleaders are Vicki Story, Kathy Denney, Christi Long, Linda Yentes, and Kitty Chamberlain.

7th & 8th Teams Work Toward Varsity

The seventh grade team enjoyed a successful season winning nine while dropping only five. Two of their victories were over arch-rivals, Wabash and Southwood, 48-33 and 38-28, respectively. Coach Riley's charges were led by Steve Ahlfeld. Ahlfeld led in the number of points scored, total amount of rebounds, and the percentage of free throws made.

Gloria Friermood, Debbie Elliot, Shelley Flohr, Diane Sparling. CHEERLEADERS

Bev McVicker, Teresa Alger, Carol Dale, Rhonda Cunningham. CHEERLEADERS

The eighth grade team had a .500 season, winning nine and losing nine. Two of their victories were over Wabash and Southwood, 48-30 and 43-49, respectively. Steve Dyson led Coach Graham's team in scoring and rebounding. In the Manchester Tourney they came in second losing only to Manchester by a single point, 49-48.

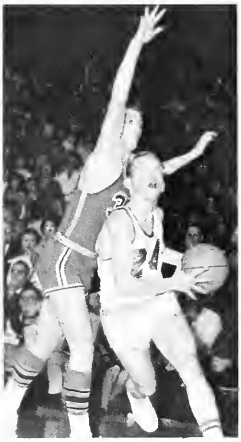
Norse in Action

Don Griffith scores against an unhappy opponent.



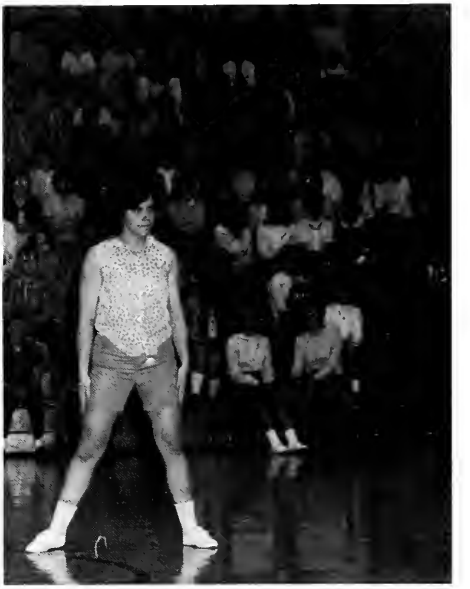
Varsity basketball player, Mike Cole attempts a field goal while being closely guarded.

John Krom sets a new two-mile county record of 10 minutes, 32.4 seconds during the track season.

Gary Haupert, high jump star, nicks the bar during the state track meet.

Every year the classes shift a little as seventh grade moves in and seniors move out. This year as always the change occurred and everything went smoothly like

. . . checking the bulletin boards for announcements



. . . getting up nerve to try out for cheerleader

. . . holding class meetings to make decisions

. . . and always having

the feeling of Northfield as a Student

The Seniors Northfield Will Never Forget

Is Study Hall that boring, Kathy?

"Hit me again, and I'll let you have it!"

As Kathy tires from a long day of decorating, she asks, "Ever try to make a fence look pretty?"

Mike and Duane present a rip-roaring debate at the Sectional pep session.

Jim and Jerry receive the first varsity trophy in the Norse's career.

"Your I.Q. is showing, Marty!!"

Juniors Found in All Parts of N.H.S. Life

Junior officers, Jennifer Willcox, secretary; Jim Stowe, vice-president; John Krom, president; and Sally Hipskind, treasurer, show their strong part in the smooth operation of Northfield.

Energy abounds in Carol Friermood as she joins in a G.A.A. volleyball game.

The exhibits at the Math and Science fair seem to do the impossible — leave John Swan speechless.

Randy Taylor and Gary Kusiak delight in the pleasures of dissecting.

The junior jaybirds, Bill Bean, Rick Sloniker, and Dennis Eller, don't look like they're studying an equation in physics.

Becky Pobst keeps the punch coming for soon an overwhelmingly thirsty group will appear.

John Fisher must be telling Gary Haupert another one of those jokes of his.

Niles Cline shows his artistic talent by cutting flowers for the Spring Fling with Jennifer Willcox and Sally Hipskind.

Sophs Order Class Rings for Junior Year

Our small but mighty class only numbers 97. It is sponsored by Mr. Gray, Miss Musselman, and Mrs. Cramer. This year, our Homecoming candidate was Miss Pam Clark. Our class officers this year were: Kim Custer, President; Dennis McKillip, Vice-President; Sherri Bidwell, Secretary; and Merle Myers, Treasurer. Rich Monce, and Tom DeArmond were Student Council. The biggest memory of our Sophomore year was the ordering of our class rings which we did late this Spring.

Sophomores join in the sectional pep rally in a mock basketball game versus the junior varsity cheerleaders.

The sophomore class was headed by Kim Custer, President; Sherri Bidwell, Secretary; Dennis McKillip, Vice-president; and Merle Myers, Treasurer.

8th Enjoys 2nd Year Together

The second year together for the graduating class of '70 found them a little bit busier. Sponsored by Mr. Strodel, Mrs. Hamilton, and Mr. Christie, the class has had a year filled with activities. Besides having a class party, they gathered money for the WOWO Penny Pitch and sponsored three sock-hops after their games.

Seventh graders are and will always remain the underdogs. Even eighth grader Carol Dale can give Cindy Swan a hard time.

Classes from Urbana, Roann, Lagro, and Chippewa combined to make the seventh grade. Class officers made plans for three after-game sock-hops. The smooth operation of this first year promises a successful future for the class of '71.

A school day can be hard and long; schedules, rough; studies, unnerving. Days like this begin early in the morning with the arrival on the buses.
